

WOMEN IN THE 2020 OLYMPIC AND PARALYMPIC GAMES

Leadership

Last updated: July 10, 2023

Morgan Powell

Co-authored by Karen Issokson-Silver, Sarah Axelson

This report provides an accurate and comprehensive examination of the participation trends among female Olympic and Paralympic athletes and the hiring trends of governing bodies with respect to the number of women who hold leadership positions in these organizations. It is intended to provide governing bodies, athletes, and policymakers at the national and international level with new and accurate information with an eye toward making the Olympic and Paralympic movement equitable for all.

The published report provides the most accurate, comprehensive, and up-to-date examination of the participation trends among female Olympic and Paralympic athletes and the hiring trends of Olympic and Paralympic governing bodies with respect to the number of women who hold leadership positions in these organizations. It is intended to provide governing bodies, athletes, and policymakers at the national and international level with new and accurate information with an eye toward making the Olympic and Paralympic movement equitable for all.

Here we provide an evidence-based look at what is known about women's leadership and participation in the Tokyo 2020 Olympic and Paralympic Summer Games (held in Summer 2021), along with an examination of media coverage. This is the seventh report in the series that follows the progress of women in the Olympic and Paralympic movement.

Related Links

https://www.womenssportsfoundation.org/articles_and_re... in-the-2020-olympic-and-paralympic-games/